

In 1941 the Soviet Union was on the eve of its biggest military effort in history, the attempt to defeat Hitler. The Soviet leadership was unwilling to postpone the campaign until spring, which would have given the Germans time to fortify themselves on the border with the Baltic States. The decision was made to attack in October to draw the German forces to the south of Smolensk, or in the North (Leningrad and the upper Volga regions). The plans failed. The newly organized German 6th Army completely defeated the Soviet forces, the Volkhov Front in the first weeks of the campaign. The 6th Army, supported by the German 9th Army, was stopped at Moscow by Soviet counterattacks, which prevented the German right wing from joining with the Soviet center. The Soviet 6th Army only ceased to exist in the besieged capital. The Soviet High Command (Stavka) decided to fall back to defense of the Moscow Region. By the end of the year the German 6th Army had forced the outnumbered Red Army to retreat, cut off by the Volkhov Front. The Soviet defensive line was on the Western outskirts of Moscow. As the battle raged around the city, Stalin, who had only recently returned to the capital, ordered a series of counterattacks in the form of the Moscow counteroffensive. IL-2 Sturmovik: Battle of Moscow is the first game in the series to include both single-player and co-op multiplayer battles. The campaign takes players through the whole Battle of Moscow and through the postwar period, when, after the end of the conflict, the survivors went on to fight Hitler. IL-2 Sturmovik: Battle of Moscow is a real-world flight simulator that represents WWII in flight. Imagine yourself in the cockpit of one of the best fighter jets from the war (eight in the game), and take off on a journey that will take you through four years of fighting on many fronts! In 1941, you will get a chance to prove your skills in the Battle of Moscow against historical adversaries and fly over the USSR in a variety of historical aircraft from the famous Me 410, the legendary twin-engine fighter to the rugged Ju-88. With the better planes you can take to the skies in the Bf-109, or the fanciest of them all, the German Me 262, the first jet-powered combat aircraft in the world. In 1942, the USSR joins the fight, and you will get to experience the difficulties

I think this is the first time I've used text in a Cutscene... Next Time I'll do a more scientific Scene Transition! I just had to do a scene transition... I'm quite disappointed with the result though. What do you think? After getting featured in the iPhone app section of the App Store, I thought it would be cool to include a GIF in my first video. I ended up drawing a fun one myself in Illustrator (this is the first animation I've ever created). I then used Scratch to animate it and record it while walking, before exporting it as a video. What do you think of the outcome? Here are the links to: 1. The original in Illustrator 2. The animated GIF itself 3. The Scratch code I used to make the GIF animate Thanks for c9d1549cdd

- A PIPE is laid out below - Every pipe is made from a square with rounded corners with an internal diameter of 1 meter - The pipe tops are 1, 2, and 4 meters from the ground - The pipes can be moved - If the bird flies too high above the pipe or too close to the pipe, it will snap and it will fall to the ground and the game will end, and the bird will not move again. (You can still collect its score) - The player must catch a falling bird to move on in the game - If the bird bounces off the pipe without hitting it, the game will not end and the player will move on to the next level - If the bird hits a pipe, the game will end, and the player will lose their score for that pipe - The player can collect their score by catching the bird (Only the player can move and collect the score at any time) - If the player breaks the rules, they will lose their score for that pipe, and the game will end - The player can only move to the left or to the right, and will not move forward or backward. - Only your hit can end the game. - If the player hits the pipe to fly in front of it, it will change its position, and if the player jumps to the side of the pipe, it will flip and if they jump again, it will change its position again. - If you hit a pipe, a sound will ring out (changes every pipe) - You can also click on the pipe to reset it and to try to change its position by moving it. - Collect stars to get highscores - The top star is scored by collecting the most stars in one game, the second is scored by catching the most birds with a score of 10,000, and the third is scored by catching the most birds with a score of 20,000 - The more pipes you collect, the easier it is to collect the 3 stars. - In Real Life, when a player is about to hit a pipe, they will see the air that is outside the pipes and the wind will show which direction they are about to hit the pipes - You can not move to the right or to the left at the start - The player may see pipes in the middle of the pipes, and since the pipes are so close together, to collect them you must jump a little. -
